

GOD HAS A PURPOSE FOR YOUR LIFE.

Most Christians don't purposely walk away from God, rather they drift away. We miss the abundant life Jesus promised and simply settle for "good enough". We choose to hold tightly to our wants and desires, our time and treasures, unwilling to release it all to Christ, not realizing by hoarding our lives, we lose it all.

Our good and giving God is raising up a new generation of men and women to follow Him fully. God's desire is that you would tap into the passions Christ Himself has for your life. That you would use these gifts and talents for His good and His glory, leaving an enduring impact over the long haul. We truly believe that God has put His hand on your life for "such a time as this".

When dreaming of walking with Christ for a lifetime and creating long-term influence, the first thing you want to evaluate is whether you are fully surrendered to the Lord. Since few New Years' resolutions last into February, we need to be honest and intentional. First, are you fully surrendered to Jesus Christ? Have you wrestled with God about your life and future? Are you willing to do anything that the Lord will have you do and go anywhere the Lord will have you go?

Answering these questions is not easy, but as you look at what you want to be true of your life in 5 years, 10 years, etc. you need to think about the immediate steps and decisions you're making today that will allow you to get there.

In John 15 Jesus talks about producing fruit that remains. What is this type of "fruit" that Jesus is referring to? A spiritually fruitful person expresses love for Christ over a lifetime and sees others become His disciples. We suggest you think through the 5 things as a way to facilitate being a lifetime laborer in God's great harvest.

HAVE A KINGDOM IMPACT IN COLLEGE.

THE 5 THINGS

THAT ENABLE YOU TO LIVE LIFE ON A MISSION

Jesus calls every believer not only to follow Him wholeheartedly, but in doing so, to go out into the world as a "sent one". In Eph. 2:10 it says you are God's workmanship created in Christ Jesus to do good works. As you begin life as a college student what would it look like to have an impact for God in your dorm or in your classes? We want to help you figure that out!

The 5 things is a great way to think through your unique gifts and talents, how to involve yourself in meaningful community, and ways you can make God known wherever He may lead you. Applying the 5 things to your life is definitely a process, but we truly believe by doing so you will have significant impact on your campus, in your community, and in the years to come.

KINGDOM VISION

The movement you are a part of on campus today helps shape the vision you have for making a kingdom impact. It helps you fulfill God's purposes for your life while in college. The kingdom vision you are developing NOW will affect how you use your time and talents, your gifts and resources in the years to come. It's this idea of seeing how you best fit into God's big plan. As you take inventory of your life today, how will you live out your kingdom vision while on campus?

RESPOND:

- > Who has God called you to be? How has God called you to serve?
- > Where/How do you see yourself fitting into the Great Commission?
- > How has God gifted you to make a difference?
- > Do you have a distinct vision for your area of study / major / current classes? Your dorm / apartment / Greek house / neighborhood?
- > Do you have a specific, practical vision that others can believe in and therefore join with you in fulfilling?

TEAM

Without a compelling community, few people can survive for long on their own. Ecc. 4 says, "It's better to have a partner than go it alone. Share the work...and if one falls down, the other helps." Who shares your heart in that they too, are surrendered to Jesus and have a vision for your dorm, area of study, Greek house, campus, community, or city? Don't just warm the seats at your weekly gatherings; rather join a movement on campus and live missionally with your friends. Gather people to pray, commit to helping each other walk with God, and "go out" very intentionally to love and serve those who don't know Jesus.

RESPOND:

- > Who shares your heart, in that they too, are surrendered to Jesus?
- > Who do you know from your dorm, classes, church, and/or Campus Crusade movement that you enjoy friendship with and share a similar vision with? How can you connect with them and be intentional about living missionally in a very defined context? (Go after one target group where you live, or work, or study, or play.)
- > Talk to three friends that can join you on mission. Who are they? (List them now as application.)
- > When can you pray with and plan with your team?

PLAN

"If you aim at nothing you'll hit it every time." Unless you're a trained chef or just incredibly gifted, most people don't walk into a kitchen and whip up a gourmet meal without a recipe. It doesn't have to be elaborate, but the plan should have simple, doable steps that will help you begin to implement your God-given vision. Plan with the end in mind. What do you desire to see God do? What do you believe He wants to do through your team? Having some sort of plan is all about being intentional, and taking steps toward your Kingdom vision.

RESPOND:

- > What do you believe to be the end that God wants you to pursue?
- > What are your first three steps to bring about your vision for God's Kingdom in and through your life?
- > Reevaluate, will these three steps move you towards that goal?
- > Do you have friends who share the vision and have an idea of how to get there? How could you bring them into the process?

ONGOING EQUIPPING

Just as teachers, pilots, and doctors need continuing education, so you will need ongoing equipping in order to make your best contribution to the Kingdom. Resources and ideas are available in many places, including allcallings.com. These articles and tools will help you in your journey of walking with God and serving Him for a lifetime.

RESPOND:

- > Are there older students and/or others who share a similar vision or have been down the same road?
- > Who can speak into both your vision and plan periodically? What books or articles should you be reading? Are you meeting with God and asking Him what He desires for you to pursue and do?
- > Ask yourself ongoingly: "What areas of my life do I need to develop to help fulfill who God has called me to be and how He has called me to serve?"
- > Are there any conferences, retreats, or other training sessions that you can attend that will help?

COACH

Proverbs stresses the importance of gaining wisdom from others. We can never underestimate the blessing of another who has gone before us and learned a thing or two along the way. A coach is just that person: someone to answer your questions, help you and your "team" when you are stuck, and/or encourage you when the going gets tough. If there is someone already out there doing what you have a vision for, can you learn from them, or even join them?

RESPOND:

- > Who is already doing what you have a vision for?
- > How can you learn from them or even join them?
- > Is there a team in your Campus Crusade movement that is already pursuing your vision? Could you join them?
- > If not, how could you glean wisdom from them as you form your own team?
- > Is there someone who can mentor you and help you accomplish your vision? (Remember, if you have staff on your campus or in your area they are there to help coach you or find you a good coach.)
